

We are sorry to inform you that the M option and R options for the Kycon K44X, KF44X, and K44XHT series have been discontinued. Unfortunately, we do not have drop in replacements for these parts. Below is a list of alternatives to check if you need to replace. Please note however, they are slightly different.

R option - Q option or P option (if you can change to board locks)
M option - T option or S option (if you can change to board locks)

Attached is the catalog page which references the options. We have left the R and M for this email in order to give you a reference point for comparison.

Please feel free to contact us if you have any questions.

Thanks and regards,
Kelli Viramontes